

HOME HAPPENINGS

WILL YOU BE ONE OF THEM?

This is the last Dispatch subscribers three or more months in arrears will receive. Under the order of the War Industries Board there is nothing else for the publishers to do. They have no option in the matter. Statements have been sent to all patrons in arrears and it is up to them to renew their subscription if they desire the paper continued.

Election next Tuesday.
Electric lights have been installed in Bryson's grocery store.

In Alliance potatoes are selling from the car at $1.40 per bushel and $1.50 delivered, the lowest prices heard of in these parts.

C. H. Neff slipped and fell the other day, badly spraining his left ankle, making it necessary for him to use crutches to get around.

A daughter was born Thursday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Willard Robinson at the home of William Robinson on North Broad street.

Silvio Ruscitto sold his Lisbon street property, at present occupied by George May and family, to Leah Paulin of Cal. Consideration, $1,900.

Fred Royle of Youngstown purchased of H. Stull for $2,700 what is known as the Corl farm of 3 1/2 acres, one mile west of Canfield, and has taken possession.

In renewing the subscription of William Dushman of Berlin Center Miss Minnie Dushman writes: "It would be almost impossible for us to get along without the Dispatch."

Candidates for county offices are whooping things up in great shape these days, seemingly seeking to make up the time lost in campaigning while the fourth liberty loan drive was on.

In common with other towns under quarantine on account of the Spanish influenza epidemic Canfield had no Halloween celebration Thursday night. The merry making will come later.

Houses for rent are in great demand in the village at rentals far and away above anything ever dreamed of in Canfield. Houses built under prevailing high costs could be rented very profitably.

Misses Eva and Elta Chidester, who recently sold their farm west of the village to H. J. Beardsley, have purchased the residence on East Main street for many years occupied by the late Mrs. Mary McCoy.

All persons in this neighborhood desiring to contribute peach seeds to be used by the government in making gas masks are requested to leave same at the Dispatch office not later than next Monday afternoon when the last shipment will be made.

No new cases of influenza have developed in this place the past week. However, the order closing schools, churches, pool rooms, etc., and prohibiting children from roaming the streets remain in force, and it is not known when the ban will be off.

A special meeting of Council was held last week Thursday night when ordinances increasing the rate for electric current and providing for the improvement of the road on East Main street were passed. The ordinances are printed elsewhere in this paper.

The annual meeting of the Mahoning Agricultural Society will be held in town hall next Wednesday between the hours of 11 a. m. and 2 p. m., Central standard time. Three members of the board of directors are to be elected and other business transacted.

Unsettled weather conditions the past week have interfered considerably with work on roads on East and West Main streets and north of town. All these highways, however, are in fairly good condition and may be traveled even if nothing more can be done before cold weather sets in.

An automobile dashed out of Lisbon street into Broad street last Friday afternoon and to avoid hitting another machine being turned around the driver alit but ran his car into W. L. Clay's barber shop. Until the rule to turn around at street intersections is enforced the danger of collisions will continue.

The Dispatch publishers have been much pleased with the prompt response of patrons to their appeal for renewal of subscriptions, made necessary by the order of the War Industries Board, and indications are that it will be necessary to drop only a few names from the list. We trust that all will yet favor us with renewals.

A surprisingly large quantity of walnut timber is being secured in this neighborhood for the use of the government in making gun stocks and airplane parts. Some trees have been cut on the farms of John Lower and C. L. Manchester that scaled more than a thousand feet. The prices range from $40 to $150 per thousand feet.

Clyde H. Edwards of Washington, D. C., well known in Canfield where he formerly resided, recently had his nose broken and was otherwise painfully injured by being hurled from a bicycle. He was riding on his own side of the street when a motorcycle driven at high speed from the opposite direction collided with him. He considers himself lucky not to have been killed.

Arthur S. Kille died Tuesday morning at the home of his father, Eli Kille, in Berlin Center of influenza and pneumonia. Deceased was 21 years old and a carpenter by trade. He is survived by his father, one sister, Mrs. Frank Young, of Ellsworth, and two brothers, Paul and Bennie, at home. Funeral services were held Thursday morning and the remains were brought to Canfield and laid to rest in the village cemetery.

A short change artist struck Canfield last Friday afternoon but so far as learned his operations failed to profit him. He first tried to work J. I. Manchester, employing the usual methods of making a trivial purchase, flashing a bill of large denomination, and while handing out a rapid-fire line of talk suddenly discovering the possession of the exact change, after getting his change, and asking for the return of the $20 bill. In Mr. Manchester's case the artist held out a $10 bill and then the merchant realized that an attempt was being made to swindle him, but it didn't work. Grocer W. L. Bryson was next on the list, but he, too, saw the game and blocked it. Other attempts also failed, and the swindler left for greener fields. The mistake made was in not having him pinched before he made his getaway.

A train of camouflaged motor army cars passed through the village last Saturday. Several trains of Dodge and Ford passenger and other cars for army service have since passed west to east, and many more are to follow. The soldier boys are furnished sleeping quarters in town hall.

Fred J. Wood of Philadelphia, a native of Canfield, in renewing his subscription to the Dispatch, writes: "I note in the paper that you have one case of influenza in Canfield. You are very fortunate. The disease is well under control here now, but we have had an awful time of it, as high as 4,000 new cases being reported in one day. Our driver reported seeing crepe on every door in every square. Undertakers reaped a harvest, and did not forget to put the price on. The churches opened Sunday, the schools Monday, and the theaters, movies and saloons open Wednesday. I think we would be much better off if the saloons never opened again."

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

Since the influenza epidemic struck the country all railroad passenger trains are running very light.

Robert Bell, aged 50, all his life a resident of Leetonia, was killed last Saturday when an Erie yard switcher ran over him.

There are only 92 inmates in the Trumbull county infirmary, not half the number housed in the Mahoning county institution.

J. R. Jeffers, Columbiana shoe merchant, died last week of heart trouble and was buried Monday in Hubbard, his old home.

George Infield, postmaster at New Middletown, died last week of influenza complications, aged 52. His wife and five children survive him.

The name of Osnaburg, Stark county, has been changed to East Canfield. Citizens of the village declared the Teutonic name had become objectionable.

The entire business section of Hanoverton was destroyed by fire early Wednesday morning, causing a loss of $150,000, half of which is covered by insurance.

Frank Altdorfer of Lisbon is in a Paris hospital suffering from the effects of Hun gases. He is a nephew of Prof. C. M. L. Altdorfer of Boardman, formerly of Canfield, and a cousin of Mrs. I. E. Christman of this place.

Many deaths have resulted from influenza in Youngstown the past week and the number of cases is increasing. Misses Lena and Mary Wonn, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wonn, died last week of the disease complications and a double funeral was held Monday afternoon.

FORMER M. E. MINISTER IS UP IN THE FRONT.

327 Field Hospital, 397th Sanitary Train.
A. E. F. France.
Mr. Geo. Boughton,
Canfield, Ohio.

My dear friend:—Well, I am finally located with the above organization as chaplain. Military restrictions prevent me from giving my location, but I can say I am in the zone of activity and have already witnessed some very startling things.

Many of my work very much and have been encouraged by the hearty response given me, both on the part of officers and men. The chaplain is respected and honored and the nearer one gets to the front the more dependent the men are upon the chaplain. I presume before this letter reaches you you will know who is your new pastor. I trust a good man will be sent you and that the coming year will be one of great success for the church at Canfield.

The more I see the way our soldier boys are sacrificing themselves for their country and their cause, the more I feel that the folks back home do not yet realize the full meaning of sacrifice and service. And in order to do their part it behooves them to strain every effort to do their part in accomplishing the work in hand. I would appreciate a line from you occasionally. Give my regards to my Canfield friends.

Very sincerely,
LEWIS D. WILLIAMS.

IS SEEING THE HUNS HUNTED

Harold Webster, a North Jackson boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Webster, who spent considerable time in this neighborhood, wrote the following letter to his uncle, Fred Mayer, who permitted its publication in the Dispatch:

Co. B, 15th M. G. Bn., Am. E. F.
Sept. 29, 1918.

Dear "Unc":—I'll bet you will be surprised to hear from me. How is everything going in Canfield? Are you with the threshing outfit this fall? Believe me a real American threshing outfit would look good to me. Over here the most up-to-date thrasher I have seen was run by water power.

Have traveled around a good bit since I talked to you last Thanksgiving. This country looks pretty fair for crops in most places and for scenery is fine, but give me OHIO and I will be satisfied. In most places over here the land is all split up into little patches and cultivated by hand. However, have seen a few American implements such as reapers, mowing machines, rakes, etc.

We have seen some action since we have been over here. Were in one of the recent drives which the Americans made. I did not get up into the active part of the fight but had to sit back and watch.

How is everyone in Canfield? Would like to see some of the folks again. I suppose you will soon be going south for the winter. How does Eddie and family like the farm? Give my best to all the folks, Mayer's, Manchester's, Hunts, etc.

One of our fellows just got back from the hospital tonight and is telling about some of our fellows who were wounded and I cannot pay attention to this letter, so will close for tonight. Hoping that you are as well as I am.
From the "Kid."

THURSDAY WAR SUMMARY
United States Official believe German note is trick to stir up controversy in United States and allied Nations. Turkey, in order to obtain peace, is reported to have agreed to permit the allied fleets to enter the Dardanelles. Hungary is forming a new cabinet, in which the Socialists are to be represented. Count Karolyi will not enter the ministry.
Austria is reported to be negotiating through Count Andrássy, for a separate peace direct with Italy at the earliest moment.
Austrians are retreating before the blows of the Italian and British armies in center of Italian battle front. Allies have crossed the Monticento in force and reached Vittorio. They have captured 33,000 prisoners.
Regiment of Ohio troops, which trained at Camp Sherman, enter battle in Italy. Pershing's forces in France, occupy Alençonville and gain control of hills dominating surrounding region.
Italians are advancing on Scutari, in Albania.
Vienna War office announces that all Austrian troops are being withdrawn from Albania.
Gen. Debeney's army has gained further ground in the move to encircle Guisane, on the Oise-Serre front.

LEAVES VALUABLE FERTILIZER
Because of their value as a fertilizer, chemists at the Ohio Experiment Station recommend that leaves be placed on garden and truck soil rather than allowed to be washed away or to be burned. Based on the prices now demanded for fertilizers, 100 pounds of leaves contain fertilizing elements which would cost 65 cents if purchased in chemical fertilizers.
While leaf ash is also valuable as a fertilizer, the nitrogen in the leaves is lost when they are burned; more than one-half of their fertilizing value is represented by this element, which in the form of nitrate of soda sells for 85 cents a pound. Practically all the fertilizing compounds are quickly leached into the soil when the leaves are spread over the garden, thus reducing the chance for plant food loss as compared with burning and spreading the ash over the ground.
Gardeners who may be able to purchase or secure leaves by the wagon load from city streets are recommended to reinforce the leaves with a further addition of acid phosphate, as the nitrogen and potash are never fully utilized by the crop unless used in conjunction with a still larger proportion of phosphorus than found in ashes or decaying matter of any kind.
